Nottingham City

Early Help Partnership Strategy

2023-25

We have written a plan to guide us so we do the best job we can to provide advice, information and support to children, young people and families.

Our partnership is made up of parents, young people and staff from schools, the job centre, health, housing, police and community groups.

Our main job is to help families with children and young people up to the age of 25 years who live in Nottingham with advice, information and support.

Each family is different.

We want to help everyone in the family before things go wrong. That's why we're called Early Help because we provide advice, information and support early on.

Here's what we do:

- Make sure everyone you talk to gives you the same advice, information and support
- Help children, young people and families become strong so they can help themselves
- Make it really easy for children, young people and families to get help when they need it
- Work together with all services
- Listen to what children, young people and families say and use their ideas to make our help even better.

We have places called Family Hubs that help families in three ways:

- Children, young people and families can easily get help and support there
- Staff from different services work together in the same place
- Families get advice, information and support to help to make their relationships better

VISION

Our ambition is to make Nottingham City a place where every child and young person has a happy and safe childhood and can be whatever they want to be when they grow up.

Our jobs are:

1. Share information so you only have to tell your story once
2. To work together to help children, young people and families
3. Train our staff so they can help you better with advice, information and support
4. Check that what we do makes children, young people and families lives better
5. Work together to get more resources so we can keep doing good work
6. Listen to children, young people and families and do what they say

Our managers

We have managers who meet regularly to make sure everything runs smoothly.

Our managers check we are doing what we said we would do.

They check we are listening to what children, young people and families tell us to make the help we give you better.
